8th Annual Future Leaders Symposium

The Future is WISE

Bentonville, Arkansas | October 22-23, 2026

Welcome to the 8th Annual WISE Future Leaders Symposium!

Welcome to Bentonville, Arkansas! We are thrilled to bring together an incredible community of students, faculty, and industry leaders for two days of learning, connection, and inspiration.

Eight years ago, our first Symposium welcomed students and faculty from just 12 universities. Today, 36 universities are represented, along with an outstanding group of industry partners. What began at the University of Arkansas has grown into a nationwide network built on four pillars: connections, development, leadership, and industry knowledge.

This year's theme, The Future is WISE: Grow Boldly. Impact Widely., celebrates how far we've come and the possibilities ahead. Over the next two days, I encourage you to step outside your comfort zone, make new connections, ask questions, and explore new possibilities. You never know which conversation might shape your future!

A heartfelt thank you to our corporate sponsors, industry partners, faculty advisors, and student leaders who make WISE possible. Special thanks to the WISE Connections Advisory Board and University of Arkansas WISE leadership team for their dedication to making this event a success.

I'm incredibly proud of what we've built together and even more excited about what's ahead. The future of supply chain is being shaped by the people in this room, and I can't wait to see where you take it!

Let's grow boldly, lead with purpose, and impact widely. The Future is WISE!

All my best,
Stephanie "Dr. T" Thomas
Executive Director, WISE

Hello everyone, and welcome to the WISE Future Leaders Symposium! My name is Remington Reaves and I am the Chair of the WISE Connections Advisory Board. I couldn't be more excited to welcome all of you to the WISE Future Leaders Symposium. Our team has been eagerly preparing for this moment over the past year, and it's an absolute joy to see it come to life with all of YOU—our fellow trailblazers in the world of supply chain.

This symposium is more than just an event. It's a launchpad into a space designed for shared ideas, meaningful connections, and the kind of learning that sparks real change. Whether you're here to network, share your vision, or soak up insights from our incredible lineup of speakers and workshops, know that you belong in this room and that your voice matters.

So, dive into the topics, lean into the conversations, and let this experience fuel your journey forward. We're so glad you're here. Let's make this year's symposium unforgettable!

Thursday Symposium Speakers

DR. STEPHANIE THOMAS

SCM Professor & Executive Director of WISE
University of Arkansas

Dr. Stephanie Thomas is a Professor of Practice in Supply Chain Management at the University of Arkansas' Sam M. Walton College of Business, where she has spent the past decade helping undergraduates, MBAs, and executives see that supply chain is everywhere and a career worth chasing. She teaches introductory SCM, sourcing, and the art of buyer-supplier negotiation. Her teaching style has an unlikely coach: undergrad classmate Peyton Manning, whose public speaking peer feedback urged her to "get the class involved more." She is also the Executive Director of WISE, building a national community of students and early- to mid-career professionals who are shaping the future of the field.

Before she was in the classroom, Stephanie was on the front lines as a merchandiser with Stanley and Lowe's, and those real-world stories still find their way into nearly every lecture. She earned her PhD in Logistics and Supply Chain Management from Georgia Southern University and taught at Texas Tech before calling the Hogs home. She has been named one of the 100 Most Influential Women in Supply Chain and serves on the Board of Advisors for AWESOME.

At home, supply chain is a family affair. She is married to Rod, also an SCM professor, so dinner-table debates about safety stock are fair game. They have two adult children and two adorable cat sisters, Smokey and Sooie (yes, as in Woo Pig). When she isn't building the next generation of supply chain leaders, you'll find her exploring national parks or catching up on a true crime podcast.

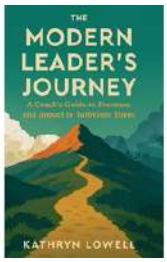

KATHRYN LOWELL

Executive Coach, Author & Leadership-Presence Expert

Kathryn Lowell has gone from Arkansas to Yale to Wall Street to working in Europe and Africa—and ultimately to spending more than two decades coaching leaders on the human side of success. As an executive coach, image consultant, and author of The Modern Leader's Journey, she's fascinated by the things a résumé can't tell you: how you walk into a room, how others experience you, what you do when you're nervous, and the strengths you may not even know you have yet. Kathryn's work helps people see themselves more clearly, build confidence, and show up at their best.

All students will receive a copy of Kathryn's leadership book!!!

Oh, The Places You'll Grow Panel

ABBY BAIRD
Moderator

Abby is a supply chain professional and content creator passionate about illuminating the million little supply chains that make the world and a better place and making it accessible to the next generation of professionals. She holds degrees in Supply Chain Management and Spanish from the University of Arkansas, where she was heavily involved in WISE. Her career has taken her through roles in Category Management, Supply Planning, Manufacturing and Material Planning.

AKILAH HENRY
Transportation Mgr
Toyota

Toyota logistics leader with 9 years of experience driving strategic, operational, and customer-focused improvements across transportation. Throughout my career with Toyota Logistics Services, I have held roles in strategic planning, highway operations, and rail operations. As a Strategic Planning Analyst, I developed transportation budgets and volume forecasts. As Highway Operations Manager, I led a team managing a portfolio of more than 20 trucking companies. In Rail Operations, I partnered closely with North American Class I railroads to support efficient network performance. I am honored to have been recognized by Progressive Railroading as a Woman of Influence in Rail in 2025. In my current role, my team is focused on improving the customer experience by reducing dwell, enhancing on-time performance, and accelerating rail ramp inventory turnover. Prior to Toyota, I built a strong financial foundation at Ford Motor Company in Finance.

ASHLEY RODARMEL
Plant Director
The Clorox Company

Ashley Rodarmel serves as the Plant Director for The Clorox Company's Glad manufacturing site in Amherst, Virginia. She is an accomplished supply chain and manufacturing leader with more than a decade of experience across plant operations, operational excellence, engineering, quality, and supply planning. Ashley started her career at Clorox through the Supply Chain Leadership Development Program (SCLDP). Throughout her career, Ashley has led large-scale organizational change, improved operational performance, built high-performing teams, and delivered measurable gains in service, throughput, safety, and cost. She is passionate about people development and creating opportunities for others to grow through coaching, technical capability building, and leadership development. Ashley also serves as Clorox's Recruiting Captain for Purdue University and as Technical Lead for SCLDP. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from Purdue University.

KALAH BLANKENSHIP
Senior Manager
Echo Global Logistics

Kalah Blankenship began her career at Echo Global Logistics 15 years ago and has been growing alongside the organization ever since. Today, as a Senior Operations Manager, she combines operational leadership with a passion for developing people, strengthening client partnerships, and driving continuous improvement. Her role includes leading and coaching operations professionals while contributing to strategic areas such as process improvement, forecasting, contract management, service-level development, and sourcing strategies. Throughout her career, Kalah has remained focused on building strong teams, navigating challenges with a solutions-oriented mindset, and delivering meaningful results for clients. She brings a people-centered approach and is committed to creating lasting value for clients, colleagues, and the broader supply chain community.

KRISSY GLASS
VP Client Engagement
Uber Freight

Krissy Glass is the Vice President of Client Engagement at Uber Freight in Rogers, AR, where she is responsible for strategic and operational leadership across various consumer packaged goods (CPG) and retail accounts. She has 28 years of supply chain and logistics experience with deep expertise in the CPG industry. Prior to joining Uber Freight, Krissy served in various leadership roles at Kraft Foods, Sara Lee, and Kellogg Co. A graduate of Western Michigan University, she is also a 2026 Women in Supply Chain Forum Industry Trailblazer Award winner.
Krissy is passionate about empowering women in supply chain. She serves as Co-Chair of the Uber Freight Women+Allies ERG, supports the University of Arkansas WISE program, and actively engages with the University of Arkansas Supply Chain Management Research Center.
She has two children, Aidan (23) and Morgan (19). In her spare time, she is a fitness enthusiast and frequently travels to support her daughter's college swimming competitions.

REMINGTON REAVES
WISE CONNECTIONS ADVISORY BOARD
2026 Chair

Remington Reaves is a senior at the University of Arkansas, majoring in Supply Chain Management with a minor in Business Analytics. Her experience in logistics and consumer packaged goods has shown her how directly her coursework at the Sam M. Walton College of Business carries over into real-world decisions, and she's loved seeing it happen. Since arriving at the U of A, she has been actively involved in the university's founding WISE chapter, serving in both Operations and Membership roles. She now serves as Chair of the WISE Connections Advisory Board, working with board members from WISE chapters across the country to support members' personal and professional growth, shape the direction of the organization and its chapter relations, and plan this very event! WISE has been a defining part of her college experience, and she looks forward to carrying what she's learned into the start of her career. Outside of school, she enjoys reading, spending time outdoors, and hanging out with her three dogs.

Friday Speakers: AI & Design Thinking Workshop

JULI PLANK
Sr Mgr, Tech Operations
Walmart

Juli Plank is a Walmart Senior Manager and former U.S. Air Force Major with over a decade of experience leading critical operations, procurement, and technology programs. She currently serves as a Senior Manager of Technology Operations at Walmart, where she orchestrates the enterprise GenAI strategy through CatalystAI—personally coordinating 149 sessions that upskilled over 13,000 associates, culminating in the execution of Field-focused GenAI upskilling at Walmart's YBM 2026.

Previously, Juli led modernization, device rollouts, and procurement within Walmart's Grocery Network. She holds a B.S. in Systems Engineering from the USAF Academy and an MBA. An operational strategist, Juli is dedicated to removing friction to give teams their time back. She champions "human-in-the-loop" technology, believing that while tools enable efficiency, a unified mission, critical thinking, and empowered people are the ultimate drivers of success.

LAURA PARSONS
Executive Asst
Sam's Club

Laura Parsons is a middle school science teacher who somehow landed in the corporate world—and discovered that curiosity, problem-solving, and a well-organized experiment are useful just about everywhere. Today, she is an operations and program-coordination professional supporting Sam's Club's Experience Strategy & Innovation organization.
Her work focuses on turning complex priorities into clear plans, effective operating rhythms, and cross-functional action. Laura holds a master's degree in Organizational Leadership from John Brown University and a bachelor's degree in Elementary Education from Oklahoma State University. She reads far too many books for her own good, enjoys baking and biking, and spends as much time as possible with her two children.

BRANDON GARDNER
Sr Dir Program Mgmt
Walmart

Brandon Gardner serves as Group Director of Store Operations AI Enablement at Walmart, where his driving passion is helping people use AI to focus on process, accelerate work, and see problems differently. While he has helped adapt store scheduling systems across Walmart's supply chain facilities, the bulk of Brandon's career is anchored firmly in Walmart U.S. Stores. He spent years digging into store data to better plan labor—making sure the right associate was in the right role at the right time to serve customers. Today, he's helping store teams leverage AI to conquer daily operational challenges. Brandon holds math and industrial engineering degrees from Oklahoma State and is excited to spend time with the next generation of innovators at WISE!

Friday Speakers: AI & Design Thinking Workshop

PAUL FIELDS
Sr Mgr, Associate Tools
Walmart

Paul Fields is a Senior Manager of Associate Tools at Walmart, where he serves as the business representative in the six-in-the-box for MyWalmart—the enterprise platform that delivers an optimized digital experience as well as data-driven work across Walmart's stores. In this role, he responds to requests and issues from home office and field leadership by mobilizing cross-functional teams to rapidly implement solutions that impact field associates across the United States.

With a career spanning field operations through enterprise implementation, Paul has consistently driven organizational impact through data-driven process optimization and cross-functional leadership. Paul holds a Bachelor's in Information Technology and Project Management from Brandman University and a Master of Legal Studies from Wake Forest School of Law.

PAUL BOEHM
Director Tech Ops
Walmart

Paul Boehm is a Director of Technology Operations and Workforce Intelligence Transformation leader at Walmart. With over 15 years of experience at Fortune 10 companies, Paul excels at turning ambiguous organizational challenges into concrete, high-impact strategies.

At Walmart, his career highlights include spearheading enterprise-wide AI adoption for associates. Known for his ability to lead through influence and build powerful cross-functional coalitions, Paul is deeply committed to driving long-term change management and strategic workforce transformation. He holds a B.S. in Industrial & Systems Engineering from Texas A&M University.

HUDSON PETERS
Sr Mgr, Change Mgmt
Walmart

Hudson Peters is a Senior Manager, Finance Transformation at Walmart, where he focuses on AI-enabled transformation, organizational change, and building the capabilities needed for the future of work. He partners with leaders across the enterprise to translate emerging technologies into practical solutions, helping teams rethink how work gets done.

Previously, Hudson supported Walmart's Operations Transformation organization, leading initiatives involving store technology, operational intelligence, and data-driven decision-making. His experience spans frontline operations, enterprise AI adoption, design thinking, and leadership development. Passionate about the intersection of people, technology, and operations, Hudson believes meaningful transformation starts with empowering associates, simplifying work, and building organizations that can continuously adapt and improve.

THERES STIEFER
Dir Finance Transformation

Sr Mgr Customer Logistics
Kenvue

Stefani Ponce is a supply chain leader who partners with brands and retailers to get products to shoppers when and where they need them. As Senior Manager of Customer Logistics at Kenvue, she leads supply chain strategy and execution for the Walmart Skin Health and Oral Care business, representing iconic brands including Neutrogena, Aveeno, and Listerine.

Over nearly a decade at Kenvue and Johnson & Johnson, Stefani has translated retailer priorities into measurable supply chain results. She has strengthened service and in-stock performance, spearheaded process improvement initiatives, and established performance management frameworks across cross-functional teams.

Born and raised in Macedonia, Stefani came to the U.S. as an international student and earned her degree in Supply Chain Management from Rutgers University. Her journey informs her commitment to developing the next generation of leaders, particularly women, and empowering them to lead with confidence and authenticity

JENNIFER TRACY
VP Operations
NextFoods, Inc.

Jenn Tracy is the vice president of operations at Next Foods, responsible for supply chain strategy and execution, including sourcing, planning, manufacturing, and logistics. From buying ingredients to executing efficient distribution, Next Foods' supply chain team leads the industry in bringing functional wellness to market.

Prior to Next Foods, Jenn has led supply chains at Caulipower, Partake and Kodiak Cakes, overseeing demand planning, warehousing, transportation and customer operations. In these roles, she has scaled fast-growing brands delivering 100% YOY growth while evolving processes to meet market demand and provide financial predictability. Jenn previously held customer supply chain leadership roles with Mars Petcare and General Mills, as well as store leadership roles with Target. When Jenn isn't scaling brands, she enjoys gardening, breathwork, and cheering for her kids' teams.

Friday Speakers

SHELLEY SIMPSON
President and CEO
J.B. Hunt Transport

Shelley Simpson is president and chief executive officer of J.B. Hunt Transport Services, a North American transportation and logistics company with more than 31,000 employees and approximately $13 billion in annual revenue. She also serves on the company's board of directors.

Before becoming CEO in 2024, Shelley held several senior leadership roles across the enterprise. As president, she oversaw performance across all business units, along with developing services and talent strategy, and earlier played a key role in advancing the company's J.B. Hunt 360°® freight-matching platform.

Shelley joined J.B. Hunt in 1994 as an hourly customer service representative and has held leadership roles across multiple business segments. Prior to becoming president in 2022, she served on the executive leadership team for 15 years, including as president of the Integrated Capacity Solutions and Truckload business segments, and as chief marketing officer and chief commercial officer. In 2020, she added oversight of People and Human Resources, expanding her responsibilities to include the company's people and culture strategy.

An Arkansas native, Shelley holds a bachelor's degree in marketing from the University of Arkansas, where she serves on the Dean's Executive Advisory Board for the Sam M. Walton College of Business and the University of Arkansas Razorback Foundation. She is also a member of The Business Council and Business Roundtable. She lives in Rogers, Arkansas, with her husband David, and they have six children.

ANNA PECKHART
VP Supply Chain Planning & Compliance
Ulta Beauty

Anna is the Vice President of Supply Chain Planning & Compliance at Ulta Beauty where she leads sales & operations planning (S&OP) and supplier operations. This includes leading forecasting, capacity planning, supplier collaboration, supplier compliance, and capabilities. She has a passion for operational excellence and a commitment to fostering strong partnerships.

Prior to leading Supplier Operations, Anna led the Supply Chain Strategy and Network Fulfillment teams where she championed critical supply chain capabilities, all with a focus on improving the guest experience and delivering operational excellence. Anna is passionate about her team, leading and sustaining a culture of innovation, and she currently serves a leader on the Supply Chain DEI Council. Outside of work, Anna serves as a mentor to young professional women and enjoys spending time with her family in Chicago.

Supply Chaney

Nathan Chaney is the Founder of Supply Chaney, a creative media company and marketing partner serving the supply chain industry. A former operations leader turned content creator, Nathan hosts the Supply Chaney Podcast, publishes the weekly Supply Chaney Digest, and founded Supply Chain Social Club, connecting professionals around the world through media, events, and authentic storytelling. He has attended and covered hundreds of supply chain events across the globe, interviewed industry leaders worldwide, and is the author of Supply Chain Storytime, a collection of insights, experiences, and lessons drawn from the first 100 episodes of the Supply Chaney Podcast.

GRANT DAVIS
Sr Mgr, Customer SC
The Hershey Company

Grant Davis is a Senior Manager in Customer Supply Chain at The Hershey Company, leading supply chain execution for Walmart and Sam's Club. Since joining Hershey in 2018, he has supported Walmart, Sam's Club, and Dollar General, where he ultimately led the $1B+ Dollar channel. Grant helped establish a first-of-its-kind Vendor Managed Inventory partnership with Dollar General and was recognized with the 2022 Consumables Supply Chain Vendor of the Year Award. Passionate about building high-performing teams and data-driven supply chains, Grant specializes in improving service and customer outcomes through scalable solutions and cross-functional collaboration. He holds a degree in Economics from the University of Arkansas and is based in Rogers, Arkansas.

LACEY MOY
Sr Mgr Talent Acquisition
H-E-B

Lacey Moy is a Senior Manager in Talent Acquisition at H-E-B, bringing more than 18 years of leadership experience across retail operations, talent acquisition, and workforce strategy. Throughout her career, she has built high-performing teams, led innovative recruiting initiatives, and developed talent strategies that connect people with meaningful career opportunities while driving business success.

With a diverse background spanning store leadership, leasing management, and recruiting, Lacey brings a unique perspective to leadership and talent development. She is known for her relationship-driven approach, collaborative leadership style, and ability to connect people, purpose, and business strategy. At the heart of her leadership philosophy is a simple belief: when you invest in people, you create opportunities for individuals, teams, and organizations to thrive.

Beyond her professional career, Lacey is a proud wife and mother of three who values faith, family, and community. Whether developing future leaders, supporting her community, or cheering on her children, she is passionate about building meaningful connections, encouraging others, and making a lasting difference in the lives of those around her.
